A: It seems to be the problem with the file content. Not with the file size in bytes or any other problematic factor. Maybe just the example file, but I cannot say if that is the only one to be corrupt. If the code is literally `tar -cvf e1.tar e1.txt` Then the name of the file should be `e1.txt`, in order to have the single letter. And finally it should have size equal to the size of the file, which is still not verified with the problem. A suggestion would be to use `shuf` to make a random collection of each letter of the alphabet, and then try like this `shuf -r -n 5 -e $(cat ~/abcdef.txt) > e*.txt` The `-r` switch will allow to rearrange the letters from oldest to newest in the same file. But only for the first 5 files with the same name, while the `-e` option will search for the filename in `~/abcdef.txt` and replace the original with the generated one, while finally the `-n 5` switch will tell that each new file should have size 5 times of the old one. If the problem persists, maybe you could make the attempts to find the potential problem with a test run, in a small area, which is totally ignored and you already can have the expected value, then, while identifying the problem, you can exclude the area. If you think this is not worth the effort, ask your question in the comments below, and I will try to help. What is the second derivative of  $-4 * x^{3} + 5 * x^{2} + 8 * x - 10$  ?  $-24 * x + 10$  Find the derivative
